SPUD PHILOSOPHY

THE per capita consumption of potatoes in this country is 3.2 bushels annually. The estimate crop this year is 433,000,000 bushels, or somewhat in excess of our bushels per capita. A prominent New York paper which was fighting the present tariff law some weeks ago was very much upset because of the duty on potatoes reported by the committee—35 cents a hundred pounds, saying: "On a million bushels of potatoes consumed a day 35 cents a bushel runs up to a neat total of $350,000, or $127,750,000 annually as a tariff charge on the American people." The duty eventually laid was 50 cents a hundred pounds, or about 30 cents a bushel, according to this newspaper's way of thinking would mean a charge of $109,000,000, as the charge on the American people. But this was assuming, of course, that the price of every bushel of potatoes would be controlled and that the controllers would add the 30 cents to the price.

Now it is hardly probable that the American people this year will increase their consumption of the succulent spud by 30 per cent. in order to balance up with the overproduction. It is almost an economic certainty that the law of supply and demand will get to work and reduce the price of potatoes below that of lean years. But the duty of 30 cents per bushel imposed will tend to restrict importations of potatoes so that the American growers will not suffer the grave slump in price which would otherwise attend a market flooded with both the domestic and the foreign potatoes. It is thus seen how fallacious are these repeated assertions of the opponents of protection that the duties are added to the prices paid by consumers, and what a Brobdingnagian falsehood is contained in the Democratic statement that the tariff law adds $4,000,000,000 to the cost of living of the American consumer, for the principle that applies to potatoes applies to other products of American farm and mill.

HOLD VARIOUS BIRDS SACRED

People of Many Lands Strongly Superstitious Concerning Some of the Feathered Tribe.

Some Indian tribes will never hurt or even touch certain birds, regarding them as the abode of the animated souls of their dead chiefs. In England and Scotland, especially, the robin is regarded as sacred. Its red breast is supposed to be of that color because a drop of Christ's blood fell on a robin, and thereforward all robins were so marked.

It is deemed unlucky to kill a swallow or to destroy its nest. That is because swallows were said to have flown round the Cross of Calvary crying "Svava Svava," which means comfort. It will be noticed that the swallow gets its name from this peculiar cry of "Svava."

The wren is another sacred bird, because, according to an old belief, it brought fire from heaven to the earth when the human race had no knowledge of how to create fire.

The thrush is a bird of luck, and to have one build in the garden of one's home is said to be a sign of coming good fortune.

Peacocks are unlucky.

Woo in Flower Language.

The language of flowers in the Near East is no simple form of speech that anyone may understand. Long and elaborate communications may be sent by bouquet if the lady is not too lazy to learn a complicated code. There is, say these Turks who claim to understand it, a direct and an indirect form of flower message.

The indirect message goes by words that rhyme either with the name of the flower or with the meaning of the name of the flower. They go to lengths in selecting and collecting posies for bouquets to be sent singly and in series that would be quite too much trouble to the average American. To the average American girl it sounds too complicated to interest anybody but a lady shut up in a courtyard without a telephone.

Sources of Folk Songs.

Because of the homeliness of its language and the beauty of its natural associations, Italy is pre-eminently the land of poetical and musical compositions, says Raoul S. Bonanno in Christian Science Monitor. To write and sing sonnets appropriate to every event is among the instincts of the masses.

Two forms of folk songs are to be distinguished: One spontaneous and plebeian in origin, the other more literary and less spontaneous. The first can be traced in Italy to the very source of the language, the second is not older than three or four centuries. Italy is considered the source from which all poetry, natural or cultivated, came and passed into the rest of the world. Its songs, through assimilation, have been essentially and commonly Italian, and it is because such they had

NOT AS SHE HAD PICTURED

Girl Who Had Herself Paged in Hotel Unprepared for Meeting With Flippant Individual.

The girl had never been paged in a hotel. Time after time she had heard the bellboys go by calling out names, and always she had envied the young women who got up and followed them to the telephone.

It got to be a positive mania with her—this desire to be paged—and finally she persuaded one of her friends to telephone her at a hotel at a specified time.

She waited in the lobby, sitting on the edge of her seat in excitement, until the boy appeared.

"Miss Brown! Miss Brown!" She rose excitedly. "I am Miss Brown," she said.

"Gentleman waiting to see you out front."

She looked rather surprised; that had not been in the scheme. But perhaps he had changed his mind. She followed the boy obediently, and was led face to face with a perfect stranger. Her face grew pink with confusion as she gazed at him, and he, realizing the mistake, watched her in amusement. He was a rather loudly dressed young man with a great air of assurance.

For a moment they stared; then he spoke. "Not so good," he said slowly, and then, as an after thought, "but not so bad, either!"

And the girl fled in embarrassment.

OFFER MARK TWAIN REFUSED

Nothing Sadder, He Is Reported to Have Said, Than Editorship of Humorous Periodical.

About that time my wife helped me put another temptation behind me. This was an offer of sixteen thousand dollars a year, for five years, to let my name be used as editor of a humorous periodical.

I praise her for furnishing her help in resisting that temptation, for it is her due. There was no temptation about it, in fact, but she would have offered her help just the same if there had been one. I can conceive of many wild and extravagant things when my imagination is in good repair, but I can conceive of nothing quite so wild and extravagant as the idea of my accepting the editorship of a humorous periodical.

I should regard that as the saddest of all occupations. If I should undertake it I should have to add to the occupation of undertaker, to relieve it in some degree of its cheerlessness. —From "Unpublished Chapters from the Autobiography of Mark Twain" in Harper's Magazine.

Where Long Necks Are Stylish.

In Burma, among the Karens, a long neck is the ambition of every woman. Her mother starts thinking about this when her daughter is a baby, and starts to accomplish this swan-like effect when the tots are scarcely able to walk.

The method employed is a series of heavy brass rings, which are as thick as your little finger. These are put around the child's neck, and as she grows, more rings are added, thus forcing her neck to lengthen out. More rings are added year after year as the girl grows into womanhood. Twenty-one of these coils is the average worn, although 25 have been achieved.

The 21-ring-collared woman is thought beautiful, but the 25-ringed lady is considered a raving beauty under the Karens of Burma.

Hidden Brine River.

A thousand feet beneath the town of Midland, Mich., run rivers of brine charged with calcium, sodium, magnesium, strontium, bromine and chlorine. Forty pumping wells raise the brine, and separate processes release from it the bases of photographic emulsions, medicines, cement, tanning materials, perfumes, preservatives and cold-storage solutions. The magnesium was used for war flares, and now, combined in a secret alloy, furnishes metal one-third the weight of aluminum, sustaining a pressure of 24,000 pounds per square inch. In the form of gas-engine pistons, after a test equivalent to that of a motor car running 30 miles an hour continuously for 35,000 miles scarcely a sign of wear was discernible. —Scientific American.

Of Course Not!

A negro boarded a tramcar. After a word with the conductor, he shuffled toward the door again.

An inspector, who happened to be in the car, said to him, "surely you don't want to get off so soon—and you haven't paid."

"Ah want ter go ter Whopple street," said the negro, "an' de conductah says dah's no sich place."

"Well, there isn't," said the conductor.

"Den dah's sure no good in ma gwine dah,"—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Baffin Land.

Baffin Land, a barren insular tract in British North America, lies between latitude 61 degrees and 72 degrees north, with Lancaster sound on the north, Baffin bay and Davis strait on the east, the Gulf of Bothnia and Fox channel on the west, and Hudson bay on the south. The area is about 236,000 square miles. It is inhabited by a few Eskimos, but is visited occasionally by whalers.

Lose Race to Moran Summit.

After scrambling for 12 hours over glaciers and precipices in an effort to be the first men to reach the summit of Mount Moran in the Teton mountains of Wyoming, Leroy Jeffers of New York, secretary of the Associated Mountaineering Clubs of North America, accompanied by Warren Lyster of Syracuse, N. Y., a Yellowstone park forest ranger, attained the top only to find that a party of climbers headed by Dr. L. Hardy of New York had reached the pinnacle more than a week earlier.

MONDAY, NOV. 20th
ROBERTSON-COLE Presents
Pauline Frederick
—in—
"Two Kinds of Women"
A story of a woman who won. Pauline Frederick needs no introduction to our movie-going public. As a dramatic and emotional star she is unsurpassed, well liked on a legitimate stage, and more so in motion pictures. Such pictures as Madame X, has shown to millions of people and won for her a place in each movie fan's heart. In this picture you will see her at her best. The title of the picture is self-explanatory. Comedy—"Entertaining the Boss," two reels. Pathe News. Star Land Review.

TUESDAY, NOV. 21st
A PARAMOUNT PICTURE
Wallace Reid
—in—
"The Hell Diggers"
This picture opens up in the gold fields of California, where Wallace is chief engineer and has a struggle of his life against odds unbearable. Plenty of action and plenty of pep, which Wallace Reid possesses in all of his pictures. Sure to please. 14th episode of "The White Eagle," with Ruth Roland. Harold Lloyd comedy, "See Senior."

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 22d
GOLDWYN PICTURE COR. Presents
Max Linder
—in—
"Be My Wife"
This picture is considered the best light drama ever produced. You'll laugh at the many complications which this star places himself in. This picture played the Plaza at Milford to big business in August. Last Monday at the big meeting of the Tail Coeders of Milford it was asked for, and shown again. Something unusual for Milford. Come early and enjoy yourself in hearty laughter. Century comedy "Speed 'Em Up." Fox News.

THURSDAY, NOV. 23d
WILLIAM FOX Presents
the feature for the week
"My Friend The D—"
This picture has been called a page from the book of life, and please do not get it confused with the ordinary program picture because it is a special and well worthy of the name. A Titanic struggle between the forces of Faith and the materialistic philosophy of the man of Science. Pedagogy defying the Supreme Master portrayed in a drama of intense human interest. A vivid pulsating story of a man whose faith was crushed when, as a mere child, the mother he so ardently loved fell stricken by the hand of Fate, while his cruel reviling stepfather lived on. Pathe News. Hall Roach's comedy "Bone Dry." Prices 35c and 17c.

FRIDAY, NOV. 24th
Betty Compson
—in—
"End of The World"
This is a high class Cosmopolitan production and Betty Compson the star beautiful is at her best. The picture had one of the longest runs in New York of any picture that could be compared with it. "End of The World" is not a program picture, but a special. Space will not allow us to describe it fully, but we want you to understand that on account of the price on Thursday night, this picture will be shown at regular admission. Pathe review. Aesop's fables. Episode No. 2 of "Pearls of the Yukon" with William Desmond.

SATURDAY, NOV. 25th
WILLIAM FOX Presents
John Gilbert
—in—
"Honor First"
This is a Saturday night show. Swift with action—fire—dash and daring. A triangular story of the tri-color. Not ashamed to fight under the French flag for honor's sake. 2 reel western "Plain Grit." Sunshine comedy. Fox News.

TRAPPERS AND MARSH OWNERS

MUSKRATS are going to be worth more this coming season than they were last. You are losing 1-3 of them, with the traps you are using and you cannot afford to do it. "TWO TRIGGER" traps hold them all and are cheaper in cost in the end than jump traps, because they last so much longer.

THEY ARE GUARANTEED TO PREVENT WRINGING OFF OR CHEWING OUT. THEIR SPRINGS ARE GUARANTEED NOT TO BREAK. THEY DO NOT HAVE TO BE SET TO DROWN. YOU WILL NOT HAVE NEARLY AS MANY DAMAGED SKINS.

We, ourselves, caught 3977 muskrats in them last season without a single loss. We used 1100 traps and did not have a broken spring. Ask your dealer to get them for you. If he will not we will send them to you, transportation paid, upon receipt of price, which is 65c each in less than dozen lots, $7.00 a dozen in lots of a dozen or over. Returnable for the price paid if not as guaranteed.

Thoroughbred Holsteins For Sale

Having decided to go out of the dairy business I am now offering at private sale my entire herd of cows. I have 15 registered Holsteins. The registration papers will show that they are some of the very best of the state. Also have several fine grades for sale. A chance to buy bargains. M. E. CULVER, Laurel, Del.

Chamberlain's Tablets Have Done

Her World of Good
"Chamberlain's Tablets have done me a world of good," writes Mrs. Ella L. Button, Kirkville, N. Y. "I have recommended them to a number of my friends and all who have used them praise them highly. When troubled with indigestion or constipation, give them a trial and realize for yourself what an excellent medicine it is."

More Milk

HALF a gallon more milk from each cow every day, will more than pay your feed bill. Nearly every cow owner gets that increase with Purina Cow Chow. It costs about a dollar a month more to feed Cow Chow, but that difference is more than made up in the first week. The rest of the month you get your extra milk for nothing. Feed out of the Checkerboard Bag and you will get more milk.

How Not to Take Cold

Some persons are subject to frequent colds, while others seldom, if ever, have a cold. You will find that the latter take good care of themselves. They take a shower or cold sponge bath every day in a warm room, avoid over heated rooms, sleep with a window open or partly open, avoid excesses, over eating, becoming over heated and then chilled and getting the feet wet. Then, when they feel the first indication of a cold, they take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without delay and it is soon over.

"MR. BOB"

By GEORGIA F. HARRIS

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Little Bobbie's eyes were popping with excitement as he burst into the living room, where his mother sat reading the evening paper.

"See, mother," he cried, breathlessly, as he pulled a large, brown envelope from his blouse, "I met a man down the road, and he told me to give you this for your business."

As Mrs. Merwin tore open the envelope, she gave a quick start of surprise. A large roll of bills lay before her.

"Why, Bobbie, boy!" she exclaimed, her pretty face showing her bewilderment, "tell mother everything that happened."

Bobbie had now regained his breath. "I was pickin' daisies over in Jenkins' field, and when I was comin' home, I met Mr. Bob."

Mrs. Merwin was silent for a few moments. "Did he ask you about your father?" she finally asked.

"Yep, and I told him my dad ain't been 'round here for ever so long—"

"What did he say when he gave you the money?" interrupted Mrs. Merwin, as she nervously fingered the large roll of bills.

"He just told me to give it to you for your business, then—" Bobbie hesitated, as if preparing for a confession—"he kissed me—just like I was a girl—and told me to bring the envelope right home to you."

Letty Merwin took the money from the drawer. She stared at the large roll of bills, as if searching for an answer to the burning questions in her brain.

Why had Bob Merwin, for surely it was he, sent her this money? Memories of her father's anger when he had driven Robert from the house, of her remorse because she had told her father of the quarrel with Robert, and of Robert's wrath as he swore never to look again at the wife who was ruled by an unreasonable father, loomed up with startling clearness, as she meditated.

Suddenly, with an apprehensive shiver, she snatched up the evening paper and searched for a little item which, earlier in the evening, had received but a glance. Yes, there it was—"Whitton general store robbed of $1,000. Robert Smith, a clerk in the store, very cleverly made away with $1,000—"

A strange, stern look crept into Letty Merwin's eyes. When last she had heard of Robert he had been working in Whitton. Before she could put the money into the drawer the door opened and a man stepped into the room.

"Robert Merwin!" burst from Letty's trembling lips.

"I couldn't go away, Letty," murmured the man brokenly. "I tried to, but, somehow, I couldn't. I don't expect your forgiveness," he went on, as she didn't speak, "and I know I shouldn't come; but I met little Bobbie and—" He stopped; for his wife had hastily picked up the money and was silently offering it to him.

"I was afraid you'd feel that way—yet I hoped—" "You thought I'd take this money?" said Letty.

"I hoped, that is, until—" he paused, for Letty was holding before him the newspaper and was pointing to the robbery item with an accusing finger. "Does that mean anything to you?" she asked quietly—too quietly.

The man read the item without betraying the slightest emotion. "I guess I deserve that—perhaps more," he replied in a low voice. He took a bank book out of his pocket and opened it to a page which showed that $1,000 had been withdrawn a few days before. The book also showed regular weekly deposits for over two years. He then took a bunch of pay envelopes from another pocket.

"I guess these will tell the story," he said slowly, "because the envelopes check up with the bank book deposits."

An ashamed blush reddened Letty's cheeks as she read "Ridgeway National Bank" on the book and noticed a single dollar in the balance column.

"Why didn't you come to me yourself?" she faltered, after an awkward pause.

"I had been looking forward to it for weeks, just waiting for my money to reach the thousand mark. I was nearly home when I met Bobbie and learned from him how things are. Funny—the prattling of a little youngster can really mean a great deal sometimes."

"What did Bobbie tell you?" Letty's voice had a suspicious tremor in it.

"He just repeated the gossip that is probably around the village. Evidently he heard some of them say that his dad, who had been away for a long time, would be 'sneaking back' now that his mother was successful in business." The man turned toward the door.

"The old gossip," cried Letty indignantly. "I didn't know—Bobbie didn't tell me all. They don't know or understand—"

"Understand what?" The man caught his breath sharply.

"Understand that I've always been waiting for you to come back to Bobbie—and me," answered Letty softly. "Can you forgive me?" She pointed to the newspaper item.

"Forgive?" he repeated, a happy light breaking over his tired face. "Together they stole into the room beyond, where Bobbie, with one chubby hand tucked under his chin, lay dreaming."

"I knew that you usually wintered here," she said, "but was astonished to hear that you had summered here."

GIRLS OF HAWAII ARE OPPOSED TO HOUSEWORK

Canvass in Public Schools Shows Small Percentage Favor the Kitchen.

In Hawaii boys and girls of many races and racial mixtures have their own ideas as to what they want to be when they grow up.

This was revealed in an investigation made recently by a sub-committee of the department of public instruction. The canvass shows that only seven-tenths of 1 per cent of the 1,856 girls questioned desire to have anything to do with household duties.

Only 46 per cent want to engage in the professions. They desire to become teachers, dentists and doctors. Twenty-one per cent desire to become stenographers, typists and bookkeepers.

Only 1.2 per cent desire to engage in agricultural pursuits; 14 per cent desire to become dressmakers, milliners and seamstresses; 10 per cent desire to become nurses and masseuses; 4 per cent desire to become cooks and waitresses, and 1.18 per cent want to become musicians.

Of the 1,901 boys questioned, 50 per cent want to become mechanics and electricians. Only 5 per cent favor agricultural pursuits. Toward manual labor one-half of 1 per cent are inclined. Fourteen per cent desire to become bookkeepers, stenographers, typists and clerks, and 15 per cent desire to become doctors, lawyers, dentists and teachers.

The choices of the remaining 15 per cent of the boys are divided as follows: Cowboys, 37; Journalists, 11; cooks, 18; foresters, 10; musicians, 18; printers, 19; sailors, 29, and business men, 25.

A Timely Suggestion

This is the season of the year, when the prudent and careful housewife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the winter is over and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the first indication of a cold appears and before it has become settled in the system. There is no danger in giving it to children as it contains no opium or other harmful drug.

WESTERN CANADA

for Wheat Growing, Cattle Raising and a Happy Home of Your Own

Prosperous Farms and Happy Homes await those who are desirous of enlarging their present resources and securing for themselves homes in a country that, while yet in its infancy, has made itself famous by the quality of the grain it produces and by the excellence of its live stock.

There are Millions of Acres of the highest class of soil available for the man whose object in life is to become his own landlord, and who wishes to share in the opportunity which has given wealth to the thousands of Americans who, having started on Western Canada farms with but small means, are now writing home to their friends, telling of what they have done. Lands are cheap and homesteads farther from lines of railway are free to settlers. Upon these lands can be grown the best of wheat, oats, barley, flax, grain, hay, fodder, corn and sunflowers.

Cattle winter in many places without shelter, during a highly successful. Taxes only upon land (not on improvements). Perfect climate, attractive social conditions, good neighbors, churches, schools, telephone, excellent mail and shipping facilities. PREVENTS STEALING OF MOTOR CARS

Mr. D. D. Oyle, member of the Institute of Automobile Engineers of England, is shown with his "Tamproof" device, which is attached to the gear box of the automobile, and which is locked by means of a key, making it impossible for anyone to steal the car by attempting to release the brakes. Should a car in "neutral," while on a steep grade, begin to slip down hill, the safety device automatically prevents the car from running wild, as it locks the gears and brakes. English automobile manufacturers are applying the device to all new cars.

Tips for Motorists.

Slow down at crossings. The temperature of a battery should be below 110 degrees. Tires wear better in cold weather than in summer months. Give all vehicles, especially loaded trucks, a good half of the road.

Because new cars are stiff and rigid, they are found to be hard on tires. The favorite outdoor sport of some drivers appears to be taking a chance at crossings.

To clean brass castings of greasy deposits, boil them in a solution of potash or lye.

The endurance of an automobile is unlimited; it is simply up to the operator for service. Two drops of oil in the starter and generator cups every 2,000 miles insure perfect lubrication.

SAGGING OF GARAGE DOOR CAN BE CURED

Supported by Tension Wire It Will Hang in Place.

Illustration Shows Easy Way to Effect Permanent Repair—Few Lengths of Strong Wire and Three Spikes Needed.

Garage doors have a habit of sagging after a time, making it difficult to close them properly or else necessitating their removal and planing of the bottom. Unless the door is small or exceptionally well made, planing the bottom affords only temporary relief. An easy way to effect a permanent cure for this trouble is to drive two spikes in opposite corners of the door as shown and connect them with a few lengths of strong wire. Place two blocks of wood under the wire, forcing it out a few inches from the door. Take a third spike and insert it between the strands of wire and twist the wire with the spike. This will act as a turn-buckle and draw the bottom of the door up. When sufficient clearance is obtained, drive the center spike into the door and you have a permanent repair. In cases where the door has sagged to a great extent, it is better to give the wire only a few turns every day until proper clearance is obtained.—Popular Science Monthly.

Supported by the Tension Wire, the Garage Door Will Hang Without Sagging From Its Hinges.

PROPER CARE OF NEW AUTOMOBILE

Much Trouble Can Be Traced to Neglect in Making Adjustments Essential to Start.

DRIVER OFTEN IS CARELESS

Owner Should Start His Motoring Career With Fixed Idea That His Car Is a Piece of Machinery Requiring Attention.

The life of an automobile depends considerably upon the care which it receives. Most of the motor-car trouble can be traced to putting off adjustments that can be regularly attended to. Carelessness of the owner has been the cause in many cases, hence he is to blame for the short service of his car.

Begin Care With Purchase.

Proper care of the car should begin with the purchase. Right then the owner should start his motoring career with the fixed idea that his automobile is a piece of machinery, subject to wear and requiring just as much attention as you would bestow on a dynamo, a grandfather's clock or a radio outfit.

Keeping this in mind will offset the common impression that many motorists possess. Not a few drivers have sentimental thoughts concerning their cars, believing that they will always stand up without proper attention. Such men are usually disillusioned just when the service of their car means most to them.

Regular attention and care prolongs the service of the car to a vastly greater extent than periodical complete overhauls. Get the habit of inspecting your car before making a trip, just the same as the far-sighted horseman will rub his hand over his animal before mounting.

Inspect Vital Parts.

A glance under the hood with the motor running, attention to any sound not in tune, a measurement of gas, water and oil, a test of the wires and tires will be well worth the slight delay in starting. Such an inspection of vital parts will offset unnecessary annoyances and greater delay later on the trip.

The motorist should study the complete instruction book as supplied him by the manufacturer in order that he will know the proper care of all the parts of his car. As he becomes familiar with as many parts as possible, he will fully realize that service rests primarily upon the attention the car receives.

Grounding Terminals.

In a single-wire electric system either terminal may be grounded, as the flow of electricity will occur just the same. As a rule the positive is the grounded terminal.

Noisy Gears.

When it is desired to overcome the noise of a set of badly worn gears it must be understood that the replacement of one of the gears will not do the trick. Only by replacing both members can it be hoped to quiet the noise.

Tanlac Put Him Back on Job, Says Davis

"I've never been much of a hand at praising medicines, but I can certainly say something good for Tanlac," said Geo. Davis, 110 Naglee St., San Francisco, Calif.

"I had a bad case of ptomaine poisoning and it came pretty near laying me out altogether. For three months I was in an awful condition and suffering constantly from diarrhea. I became weak all over and was going from bad to worse. I tried everything I knew of, but it was beginning to look like nothing would ever reach my case.

"Then, a friend of mine recommended Tanlac to me. And it's a fact, four bottles have made a clean sweep of my troubles and built me up to where I feel like a new man. I am working every day now and when it comes to recommending Tanlac I can't put it too strong."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.—Advertisement.

Institute of Economics.

To undertake economic research and to present results in technical form in pamphlets, monographs and special reports, the Institute of Economics has been founded by the Carnegie corporation at Washington. It is directed by Dr. Harold G. Moulton, formerly professor of political economy at the University of Chicago.

DYED HER BABY'S COAT, A SKIRT AND CURTAINS WITH "DIAMOND DYES"

Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint her old, worn, faded things new. Even if she has never dyed before, she can put a new, rich color into shabby skirts, dresses, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, draperies, hangings, everything. Buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—then perfect home dyeing is guaranteed. Just tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods. Diamond Dyes never streak, spot, fade or run.—Advertisement.

Too Quick for Him.

A country merchant was in his store when a little boy came in and the following conversation ensued:

"Boy, what is your name?"

"My name is Ephraim, suh."

"Well, Ephraim, what is your daddy's name?"

"Ah ain't got no daddy."

"Is your daddy dead?"

"Naw, suh, Ah ain't never had no daddy."

"What is your mammy's name?"

"Ah ain't got no mammy."

"Why, is she dead?"

"Naw, suh, Ah ain't never had no mammy."

"Well, if you never had a mammy and daddy, how did you get here?"

"Ah dunno, suh. First time Ah knowed anything Ah was here."—Judge.

Took Him Down a Peg.

You have, no doubt, among your acquaintances a person who is of the belief that without them the world could not wag on. The other day one of this sort of individuals received the shock of his life when he returned from a three-month sojourn in Europe.

The night after he arrived in Washington he visited the home of a young woman upon whom he has matrimonial designs. There were a number of others present that evening and he at once endeavored to monopolize the conversation and started to relate in detail his experiences on the other side of the pond, when the adored one cooingly said: "Why, Percy, have you been away?"—Washington Star.

Somewhat Novel Request.

Joe, aged three, accompanied by his mother, recently spent a night with one of his aunts. At bedtime, auntie and uncle came in to hear how Joe was progressing with his prayers. Mother was proud of his pious efforts, and glad to exhibit him, but much to her embarrassment, instead of asking for "our daily bread," he said, "Give us this day our daily papers."

No Time for a Standstill.

"Do you believe in the theory of evolution?"

"Yes," replied Farmer Cornsossel, "And when I see the way some of us humans is actin' up all I hope is that we continue to improve."

Some men are too busy to grow old.

A monthly inspection should be made of the brake rods and connecting parts. Clean off all the accumulated dirt and rust so that they will act as freely and efficiently as possible.

Use a heavier grade of lubricating oil in the motor, transmission and differential in summer than in winter. The oil should be drained from the motor at intervals not to exceed every 1,000 miles.

When the cooling fluid is kept in motion by thermo-siphon action, it is quite important that the radiator be kept reasonably full in order that there be a back resistance to aid in forcing the water forward.

A magnetized screwdriver is a great convenience for the man who works about his car. The magnetized tool will pick up screws, nuts, bolts or other metal objects that have dropped into inaccessible places.

One and one-half cents per day was the cost of the American highways to the individual man, woman and child in this country last year, after deducting the amount paid by automobiles in license fees, according to Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the United States bureau of public roads.

The owner should remember that tires expand more in hot weather, and therefore the pressure should be taken by gauge about once a week, particularly if tires have been in use for any length of time.

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

SALLIE'S ADVICE WAS GOOD POISONED GLUE FOR BIBLES

Pekinese Dog Was Due for Rude Awakening if He Went Too Far With That Cat.

As a present to their first baby May, Henry Vaughan and Mrs. Vaughan, who moved to New York from Spar-tanburg, S. C., were given a fancy-bred Pekinese dog. They moved out to the country for the summer, and sent for Sallie, the old negro cook, to come up and look after the baby and Ming Toy, the dog.

Ming Toy had never seen a cat before. So, when a big toment came to the back porch Ming Toy, in the strongest bark he knew, promptly barked the cat, showing great bravery for such a foolish-looking dog. Sallie looked out the back door.

"Ming Toy," she advised, "lemme tell you sum'n. You'd better quit your projerkin' wid dat toment. Fust thing you know, 'at cat's gwine to git me and 'at ain't gwine to be no place for no dog laik you. Efn 'at ole cat gits started he's gwine turn you ever' way—but loose!"—Saturday Evening Post.

After.

First Gentleman—"Did you get home last night before the storm?" Second Gentleman—"That was when it started."

Heroic measures are often misfits.

Ached at Home. A pupil returned after several days' absence: "Why were you absent?" the teacher asked. "I had an ache," replied the pupil. "Where?" "At home."

Invents Furnace Control. A French inventor's governor to regulate the temperature of electric furnaces depends on the expansion of mercury by heat for its action.

Do you hear the clock strike the night hours?

HOW often you have heard people say, "I can't drink coffee; it keeps me awake nights!" They've learned from experience; have you?

If you are a coffee drinker and fail to get sound restful sleep, it means that your nerves are over-stimulated and that health needs protection from coffee's drug, caffeine.

There's no sacrifice in making health safe, as so many thousands have found who have turned from coffee to Postum. It has a delightful coffee-like flavor, and is free from any element that can harm you. As many cups as you like, and no regrets.

Your grocer has Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared; made by boiling fully 20 minutes.

Postum FOR HEALTH

"There's a Reason"

Made by Postum Cereal Co., Inc., Battle Creek, Mich.

The two forms of Postum are equally delicious; and the cost is only about 1/4¢ per cup.

The hunting season opened on Wednesday morning and a large number of sportsmen enjoyed the occasion in this section on the first day and for several days following the opening event. Some successful hunts are being reported as usual. The season for upland game—rabbit and quail, began on the 15th and lasts until December 31st. It used to be the best of some of the gunners that they could kill a rabbit a day during a longer season than this, but there are probably few that made that record this year. There may be as many rabbits and quails as formerly, some are not, and some not, but it is to be hoped that there are more of them this year.

One of the best of this town, who has been hunting and trapping for some time, is now in the market for a few more.

at a Wilmington business college made a record in typewriting on Friday that not only established a record for the present school term but broke all records at that college for 22 years, covering the same period of training. Miss Wells wrote 51 words a minute net with but one error, in a 15 minute test, after less than 10 weeks training. Miss Wells has not only had less than ten weeks instruction in typewriting but she had not used a typewriter at all prior to entering the school in September. This makes her record all the more remarkable. Miss Wells is a graduate of the Middletown High School, 1922 class. Her many friends here are much gratified over her achievement in her studies and all wish her a still greater success in the future.

"Two Kinds of Women," featuring Pauline Frederick, will be shown at "The Everett" next Monday evening.

Buy Winter Clothing NOW

In every department Fogel's are now fully stocked with fine, new Winter goods of every kind suitable for men, women and children.

We urge our patrons to begin making their needed purchases of heavy clothing and other winter goods now before the Holiday rush. They can now at their leisure select the things that please them, and we will be able to pay them more attention.

Moreover, drygoods are advancing in price, and when our present cold-weather stocks are sold out, we will not be able to replace them for the same prices. Therefore we again advise you to buy now.

MILLINERY AND LADIES' CLOTHING

Our stocks, in variety, styles and qualities, are especially fine in Ladies' Clothing and in Millinery of every description, and we invite our lady patrons to use this leisure time to select just what they need in Coats, Dresses, Hats, Shoes and all the rest.

OUR COMING XMAS TOYS

We wish to announce that we made large purchases of German Toys before the present tariff tax was put on them, and these Toys with our equally large purchases of American Toys, will make our Holiday Toy Display, which we will show during Thanksgiving week, the largest we have ever made in our Store.

These lower priced Toys, bought before the tariff was on, will mean a good saving in money which we will pass on to our customers. So keep this fact in mind when planning for your Xmas Toy and other Holiday purchases.
